Authors hereby agree to grant, transfer and assign exclusively to Japan Society of Interventional Radiology (JSIR) full copyright upon acceptance of the manuscript for publication in Interventional Radiology. This applies to all media known or hereafter developed, throughout the world and for the full term of the copyright including all extensions and renewals. The rights granted to JSIR herein include, but are not limited to:

1. All rights of copyright registration and publication
2. The right to create derivative works, and all other rights incident to copyright ownership in all media known or unknown.
3. The right to edit or change the manuscript, its title and abstract.

Acceptance of this agreement constitutes that the authors confirm the following conditions:

1. The manuscript has not been copyrighted, published, accepted for publication, or considered for publication elsewhere, including in any other languages.
2. The manuscript does not contain any copyrighted materials; or if the manuscript does contain any copyrighted materials, the authors have already obtained written permission for using such materials.

On behalf of my co-authors, I, the corresponding author of the manuscript titled above, agree that all authors have read and agreed to the terms and conditions described above.
